Discover Winchelsea

Winchelsea is one of the Cinque Ports, an historic town set in a landscape of national importance on the East Sussex coast

With surrounding countryside protected by the National Trust, there are spectacular views along the Brede Valley and across Rye Bay to Dungeness

Winchelsea is one of the best preserved medieval planned towns in the country, with streets laid out on a rectangular grid pattern

Founded in the late thirteenth century as a port by King Edward I, it replaced Old Winchelsea which was swept away by ferocious storms and the rising sea

Winchelsea Corporation

The story of the Corporation stretches back to the thirteenth century and the Mayor and Jurats governed the town until relatively modern times

Now a charity with no local government powers or public funding, the Corporation has stewardship of the medieval town gates and Court Hall. It runs the Museum, publishes the Winchelsea Town Guide and maintains the town website

The Mayor continues to represent Winchelsea at the ceremonial and civic events of the Cinque Ports' towns. The Corporation is able to fulfil its charitable objectives through the generous support of the local community

The Museum contains displays and exhibits that illustrate the history of Winchelsea. Located in the High Street, the Court Hall dates back over 700 years. It is the home of Winchelsea Corporation and in its time has served as the town gaol and community hall. Here the most famous Victorian actress, Ellen Terry, passed on her skills to Winchelsea children

Exhibits include maps, models, pictures, pottery and items relating to daily life. Staffed by knowledgeable local volunteers, the museum is regularly open from April to October with books and other gifts on sale

Opening times are posted on winchelsea.com where you will find lots of information about the history of Winchelsea

The Court Hall Museum

Considered one of the finest church buildings in Sussex, St Thomas's was planned to be of cathedral proportions with a nave extending almost to the churchyard wall. The ravages of the Hundred Years' War left it severely damaged and only the chancel remains

The remarkable stained glass windows were designed by Douglas Strachan and installed between 1929 and 1933

The Alard tombs are St Thomas's most important relics. The Alards were Winchelsea's most significant family and their tombs were placed here in the fourteenth century. Comedian Spike Milligan lived in nearby Udimore and is buried in the churchyard

St Thomas's Church

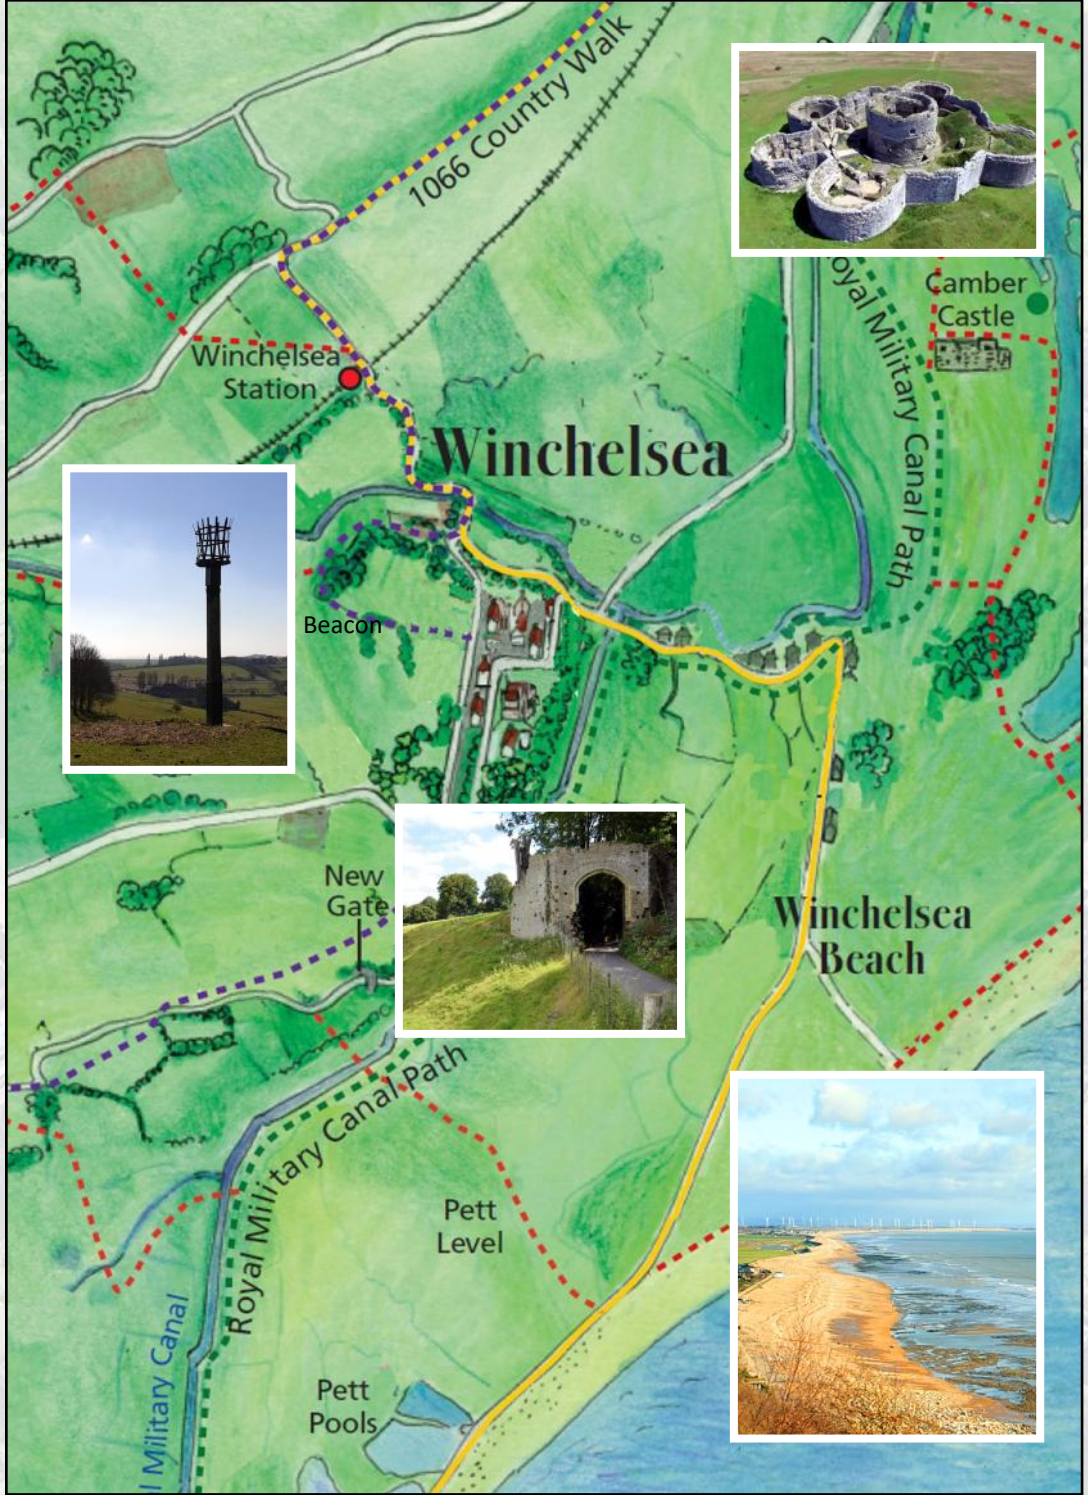

The Winchelsea Cellars

The stone-vaulted medieval cellars are an important part of the town's history. Only Southampton has similar numbers of the same quality. You can easily identify entrances at ground level, but the size, scale and beauty of what lies below can only be appreciated by a visit underground.

From April to October, knowledgeable local guides run fascinating tours of the cellars. They provide an insight into the history of Winchelsea and its role as a Cinque Port and a centre for medieval trade. Tours, which last approximately 1½ hours, take place on most Saturday mornings, plus some bank holidays, and during the Rye Arts Festival in the autumn. We also run historical walking tours of the town.

They can only be booked online, either via winchelsea.com or directly, using the QR code below

Walks and Views

See the town map in the centre fold for the places to go to get the best views

- Looking west from the Millennium Beacon you can admire unspoiled country views along the Brede valley
- Looking east from The Lookout at the end of the High Street you can enjoy the sea view of Rye Bay with Dungeness beyond
- From North Street you can see across to Udimore and Rye
- A stroll southwards along Wickham Rock Lane takes you to the New Gate which was once the only way out of Winchelsea by land
The gate is about fifteen minutes' walk from the church

The 1066 Country Walk comes through Winchelsea

The route winds through the countryside that witnessed the Norman Conquest, starting in Pevensey, passing through Battle and finishing in Rye
